

When the night started to fall, Nenu
 3 was afraid and touched his father's shoulder.
 The man looked at him without saying anything, 4 just faking a smile. They started to get back down the hill toward the dried stream's bed. Eventhough st 2 the night was coming, their eyes hurt and the hot 4 wind burnt both their faces and their hands. The man seemed to have some difficulties to walk on 2 the way and had to lean on Nenu's shoulder.
 2 Below, at (the nd end of valley), <sup>at</sup> watering's water
 2 the valley's end cs
 4 was black. Stingers were dancing in the air and 4 tried to sting children's faces. Either, near the 3 Smerai's red walls, bats flew really close to text,
 4 art
 2 running around houses. When they arrived in front